Re: IDEA course evaluation system changes

This summer, we were notified that the current instrument and platform (the "legacy system") for the IDEA course evaluations is being sunsetted and will no longer be available after June 30, 2019. This leaves us with the option of adopting IDEA's new survey instruments on a new platform, or adopting a brand new course evaluation system. A decision will need to be made quickly because of the timeframe for the legacy system elimination.

I have met with the Faculty eBoard and Interim Provost Stalvey, and they are in agreement that we should have an ad hoc committee that will take a look at the various options and make a recommendation to the Interim Provost on what system should be adopted. The recommendation will need to be made before the end of the fall semester so we have time to transition to a new platform.

Thank you.
